International Student Services

NorQuest International

NORQUEST COLLEGE

Compliance with Immigration Regulations

Only licensed advisors can legally provide immigration advice. Contact NorQuest International for any concerns on immigration matters.

Know the expiry dates of your immigration documents and apply for an extension at least four months before they expire.

- Your study permit must be valid for at least one month longer than your program completion date

Read and comply with the conditions on your study permit and co-op work permit (if applicable).

- To avoid job type restrictions, an Immigration Medical Exam is required for students in Health and Child Care programs.

Work on- or off- campus only when authorized.

Compliance with Immigration Regulations

It's best to follow the standard program enrolment plan. Do not make changes to the enrolment done by Office of the Registrar before consulting with a Student Advisor.

Full-time student status is required to be eligible to:

- work while studying
- apply for a PGWP

More than 50% in-person class sections ("A: in-person", "E - Evening", "S - Saturday", or "W – Workplace" sections) are required for PGWP eligibility.

Apply for your Co-op Work Permit early and submit it to NorQuest International for verification before your practicum begins (if applicable).

Student Advisors

NORQUEST COLLEGE

Retention Advisors
Financial Aid Advisors

Advisors

Advisors are your point of contact throughout your time at NorQuest College. We will help you from application to graduation or completion.

Advisors will:

- give you advice and guidance on reaching your goals,
- provide information on programs, college services, testing, and financial aid,
- help you make informed decisions about your academic future.

Advisors are available Monday to Friday, 8:30am to 3:30pm:

- By Email – Student.Advisor@norquest.ca
- In-person - Civic Employees Legacy Tower (CELT) - Student Services Desk

Retention Advisors

- Advise students through enrolment processes and program planning
- Advise students through procedures related to program transfer, withdrawal, and graduation
- Connect students to Student Services and faculty areas for area-specific support

Financial Advisors

- Advise students on student loans and government funding options
- Advise students on awards and bursaries, and support completion of applications
- Advise on emergency funding and alternative resources

- Information about funding options, keeping loans interest free while in school, and repayment options is available at Student Loans.
- Questions? Email Student.Advisor@norquest.ca
- Information about Scholarships and Bursaries can be found on our website – Scholarships and Bursaries
- Questions? Email awards@norquest.ca.

Important Dates

- Important dates, such as add/drop and payment deadlines, can be found on the Academic Schedule on the NorQuest College website. It's important to note that the dates on the academic schedule relating to add/drop/withdrawals are for 16 week courses and may differ from your specific deadlines as some courses may be less than 16 weeks. You can see your specific deadlines in MyQuest in your Student Center by click the 'deadlines' icon next to the specific course in the area that shows your schedule. Check each option for specific deadlines. If you are unsure about a deadline, connect with a Retention Advisor.

- Information about withdrawing, academic, and financial penalties can also be found on our website – Withdrawal Chart

Building your Schedule

- As a student, you are responsible for planning, building your schedule, and enrolling in courses. The best place to build your schedule and enroll is through Visual Schedule Builder, which can be accessed when you log-in to MyQuest.

- Some courses may only be offered in specific terms, so we recommend building your schedule and enrolling early. You can also build your schedule and enroll in advance for future terms.

- Course lists are found on your programs page on our website – we recommend enrolling in courses as they are listed to stay on track. You can also access your Academic Advisement Report in Student Center to see your program course requirements.

- If you get off track, either by missing or failing courses, it's best to contact a Retention Advisor to discuss planning and the best way to move forward.

- Tuition & fees are not due until the 1st day of each term, which means you can enrol in courses without having to pay right away.

Assessments

- Assignments and exams will be outlined in your course syllabus, including deadlines
- If you are struggling with an assignment or need support contact your instructor EARLY
- Accessibility services are available for those students needing accommodations

Academic Progress

- Achieve a minimum passing grade for each course
- Maintain a minimum 2.0 GPA overall
- Failed courses will need to be repeated
- At least (C) grade required in pre-requisite courses

Academic Probation

- Process to identify students at risk of not completing their program
- If you have failed 2 or more courses OR your GPA is less than 2.0
- You can still register and continue your studies

Academic Misconduct

"Academic misconduct may be defined broadly as the giving, taking, or presenting of information that dishonestly aids an individual or group in the determination of academic merit or standing. Common examples include, but are not limited to, plagiarism and cheating. "

What is plagiarism?

Plagiarism is a form of academic misconduct that occurs when someone presents work that has been created by someone else, as their own.

Examples of plagiarism

- Submitting a paper that your friend wrote when they took the class
- Copying content without citing the source author
- Changing a few words of copied content using a thesaurus
- Submitting the same paper for two different classes
- Buying an essay or using an AI generator and submitting it as your own

How to avoid plagiarism

- Take time to plan and complete your assignments
- Keep track of sources and take notes
- Add your own thoughts, ideas and reflections on the content
- Get support from your instructor and the library

Academic Misconduct

Academic misconduct is an infringement of integrity.

The consequences are very severe.

A grade of zero on an assignment or failing the course.

An Office of Student Judicial Affairs (OSJA) case. Permanent record at NorQuest.

Suspension or removal from program, or expulsion from NorQuest.

Extra expense of repeating courses and delays in permanent residency. Revocation of study permits.

Impacts of academic misconduct

- Lack of knowledge and skills to complete future courses
- Inability to pass technical interviews or do job duties
- Create a poor reputation for our program

The value of your diploma is dependent on the integrity of you and your classmates!

Academic Integrity Resources

Tips for Success

Overall SUCCESS

- Participate in course work
- Engage with your instructor and classmates
- Do your own work
- Get advice from college supports
- Monitor your progress and schedule your studies

- Check your @norquest.ca email every day

Hyflex Students

- Double check your technology set up
- Book time to meet your instructors virtually (or in-person!)
- Connect with the Testing Center if you need to write your exams remotely

Tips from experienced MLAD students

"Time management- how to manage your time when you are a new student in Canada and also time management between work and school."

-Puneet

"Attendance, building connections, ask questions, clear your doubts in class or in office hours. Ready to do hard work, always be honest."

-Sahij

"It is important to understand the workload you need to put for each course. Plan your courses and time accordingly. Because you don't want to take all at once and then not excel in anything."

-Sandra
